Miquel Àngel Gonzalez-Torres, MD

Professor of the Department of Neuroscience, University of the Basque Country, Spain; head of the Psychiatry Service, Basurto University Hospital, Bilbao, Spain; and training analyst at Centro Psicoanalítico de Madrid, Spain

= Conference Goals =

The goal for this conference is to offer a new approach to the discussion and presentation of the psychological science nowadays. We expect to engage and interact with authors and researchers from various countries, cultures and fields in the area. We provide the answer to expose new quality developments in research and theoretical findings in Applied Psychology. Some main areas are chosen and divided in more detailed sub-themes (see below), not omitting other topics regarding groundbreaking contributions that might benefit attendees at the conference.

= InPACT format =

The conference will cover many types of presentation formats, incorporating Invited Keynote Speakers, oral and thematic showcases. Among the conference materials, given to all registered attendees, a book will be published and provided with the Proceedings delivered at the conference. Publication opportunities will also be available from selected international journals.

= Themes of Interest =

To develop the conference program we have chosen five main broad-ranging categories in Applied Psychology, which also covers different interest areas:

- In CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGY: Emotions and related psychological processes; Assessment; Psychotherapy and counselling; Addictive behaviours; Eating disorders; Personality disorders; Quality of life and mental health; Communication within relationships; Services of mental health; and Psychopathology.

- In EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY: Language and cognitive processes; School environment and childhood disorders; Parenting and parenting related processes; Learning and technology; Psychology in schools; Intelligence and creativity; Motivation in classroom; Perspectives on teaching; Assessment and evaluation; and Individual differences in learning.

- In SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY: Cross-cultural dimensions of mental disorders; Employment issues and training; Organizational psychology; Psychology in politics and international issues; Social factors in adolescence and its development; Social anxiety and self-esteem; Immigration and social policy; Self-efficacy and identity development; Parenting and social support; and Addiction and stigmatization.

- In LEGAL PSYCHOLOGY: Violence and trauma; Mass-media and aggression; Intra-familial violence; Juvenile delinquency; Aggressive behaviour in childhood; Internet offending; Working with crime perpetrators; Forensic psychology; Violent risk assessment; and Law enforcement and stress.

- In COGNITIVE AND EXPERIMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY: Perception, memory and attention; Decision making and problem-solving; Concept formation, reasoning and judgment; Language processing; Learning skills and education; Cognitive Neuroscience; Computer analogies and information processing (Artificial Intelligence and computer simulations); Social and cultural factors in the cognitive approach; Experimental methods, research and statistics; and Biopsychology.

Conference 5:

World Psychological Forum 2015 – Crossroads of Interdisciplinarity: 17th – 19th September 2015, Prague

Ladies and gentlemen, dear colleagues and friends:

As we know, human affairs, for the most part, are rooted in psychology. Psychology of individuals, psychology of social groups, and societies.

At the same time, we recognize the different perspectives and expertise of other relevant disciplines eg. Political Sciences, Economy, Cross-Cultural Sciences etc. and we are curious what our colleagues from those fields have to share.

As psychologists, we feel the burden of many problems the world suffers from and we feel the need to address them responsibly, from the humanistic yet also realistic perspectives.

The Forum will be organized by the Union of Psychological Associations of the Czech Republic (UPA CR) and the Czech-Moravian Psychological Society (CMPS) under the Auspices of the Ministry of Regional Development CZ.

It is a privilege to address you and ask you to share our concern. We encourage you to take part in this important event. In 2015, we focus on the following areas:

Political psychology

Economic Psychology

Cross-Cultural Psychology

The speakers will include Philip G. Zimbardo, Christina Maslach, Vladimíra Dvořáková, Tomáš Sedláček, Shalom H. Schwartz, Michal Žantovský, Jacques Rupnik, Radek Špicar among others.

Detailed information with topics specification are available at www.wpforum.eu

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS: E-POSTERS with brief oral presentation

The Organizers invite psychologists, economists and political scientists, academics and researchers from all fields of applications and backgrounds to submit E-posters for World Psychological Forum 2015.

The DEADLINE for ABSTRACT submission is: January 31st 2015

Detailed information available at www.wpforum.eu

We are inviting you to Prague to discuss the actual topics personally!

Local chair

Dear colleagues working with and interested in personality disorders,

On behalf of the European Society for the Study of Personality Disorder (ESSPD) and the local organizing committee we would like to invite you to the first ever ESSPD Workshops on Personality Disorders on June 4th–6th 2015 in Tallinn University, Tallinn, Estonia.

The event

The first ESSPD Workshops on Personality Disorders is intended specifically to cater to the needs of clinicians working with patients with personality disorders. The ESSPD has chosen and invited some of the best clinical experts in Europe to give lectures and workshops in their area of expertise.

The website

→ <http://www.esspd.eu/meeting-tallinn-2015>

The format

Plenary lectures should familiarise attendants to the theoretical underpinnings of the specific therapeutic approaches, and give a glimpse of the evidence supporting the effectiveness of the treatments.

Workshops will introduce clinical skills to be used with real patients in real, everyday clinical settings.

An application will be made to the EACCME for CME accreditation of this event.

Check out the → Online programme

The workshops

- Arnoud Arntz: Schema therapy for personality disorders in general
- Anthony Bateman: Mentalization based treatment for antisocial personality disorder: Introduction to clinical practice
- Martin Bohus: DBT for PTSD related to childhood sexual abuse in patients with Borderline Personality Disorder – a multicomponent programme
- Giancarlo Dimaggio: Metacognitive Interpersonal Therapy for avoidant personality disorder
- Ad Kaasenbrood: Social psychiatric management for people with a personality disorder
